Pursuant to the California Health and Safety Code §42409, the Northern Sierra Air Quality Management District is publishing and making available a list of potential violations subject to penalties that may be assessed by the District. Additional violations and penalties are as specified in the California Health & Safety Code.

Health & Safety Code §42400 provides (except as outlined in subsequent sections) that any person who violates any provision of Health & Safety Code Part 3, or any order, permit, rule or regulation of the state board, or the District, including the District Hearing Board, is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to a fine of up to $1,000 per day or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 6 months, or both.

Health & Safety Code §42400.1 provides that any person who negligently emits an air contaminant in violation of any rule, regulation or order of the state board or of the District pertaining to emission regulations or limitations is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to a fine of up to $25,000 per day, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 9 months, or both, with more severe penalties in the case of great bodily injury or death.

Health & Safety §42400.2 provides that any person who emits an air contaminant in violation of any provision of the Health & Safety Code Part 3, or any order, rule or regulation of the state board or the District pertaining to emission regulations or limitations, and who knew of the emission and failed to take corrective action within a reasonable period of time under the circumstances, is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to a fine of up to $40,000 per day, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or both.

More severe penalties than those listed above may be applied to willful or intentional violations.

A person who owns or operates any source of air contaminants in violation of §41700, Public Nuisance, which causes actual injury to the health and safety of a considerable number persons or the public, is liable for a civil penalty of not more than $15,000. Each day on which a violation occurs is a separate offense.

The recovery of civil penalties pursuant to Health & Safety Code §42402 et seq. precludes prosecution for the same offense. When the District refers a violation to a prosecuting agency, e.g. District Attorney, the filing of a criminal complaint requires the dismissal of any civil action for the same offense.

In addition to any civil or criminal penalties prescribed under Health & Safety Code Part 3, the Northern Sierra Air Quality Management District may impose administrative civil penalties (§42402.5), not to exceed $500 for each violation of State or District rules and regulations.
